Powering Up!

The City and County of Honolulu dedicated the new Electric Charging Stations and announced the arrival of the newest Electric Buses.

This brings the city closer to its goal of 100% renewable energy by 2045.

The event Master of Ceremonies, Roger Morton, Director of Department of Transportation Services (DTS), introduced Mayor Rick Blangiardi for the opening address.

Notable speakers included Councilmember Radiant Cordero, Nicola Hedge, Director of City Resilience Office, Allyn Lee, Department of Facility Maintenance and Coordinator of the Electrification Project, Jon Nouchi, DTS Deputy Director and Robert Yu, OTS President and General Manager.

Also in attendance were representatives from Hawaiian Electric, Environmental Protection Agency, and Ulupono.

WHAT'S NEW?

Adam Tamayoshi
Vice President, Maintenance

On February 22, 2022, the City held a ceremony to unveil the new electric bus fleet and charging stations. There are currently sixteen 40-foot electric buses (4001–4016) and one 35-foot electric bus (3501) in the fleet. These buses are being charged by nine 150-kW chargers connected to 25 dispensers. The chargers are capable of charging a bus from 0 to 100 percent in approximately three hours. Being first generation electric buses, there have been a few growing pains. However, we are seeing improvements and are excited to keep moving forward on the path towards zero emissions.

While the flavor of the month is electric buses, it is important that we still purchase diesel buses to replenish our aging fleet. This spring we will be taking delivery of thirty-one 60-foot diesel buses, which will be followed by fourteen 40-foot diesel buses in the summer. These buses will have more fuel-efficient engines and transmissions, vinyl seat inserts, and a flooring design that was specifically created for our buses.

Our paratransit fleet will also be receiving new vehicles this year. A delivery of 65 cutaways is expected to start arriving soon and continue through the fall. These will replace some of the 1400-series cutaways with high mileages that are starting to show their age.

With all of these new vehicles, we have to make it a point to not forget about our facilities. We've been in constant communication with the City regarding safety concerns, obsolete equipment, and energy efficiency projects. These improvements will not happen overnight, but they are moving ahead and you'll hopefully see changes soon.
